

Get Involved with the NAEYC Technology and Young Children Interest Forum

Join our Listserv

...To participate in online discussions with others interested in technology use and early childhood education. To join, send an e-mail to LISTSERV@LISTS.MAINE.EDU. In the body of the message, type: Subscribe ECETECH-L (your name) Questions?
Contact bonnieb@maine.edu or wangxc@buffalo.edu

Come Play!

One of the best ways to learn how to use technology is to try it out! Join us in the Tech Tools Showcase project: Blogs, wikis and other web wonders! wiki "sandbox"
<http://ecetech.wikispaces.com/>

Sign on and jump in, with hands-on activities using wikis, social bookmarking and blogging. Together we can learn more about Web 2.0, the "read-write" web and new opportunities to collaboratively publish and build online learning communities.

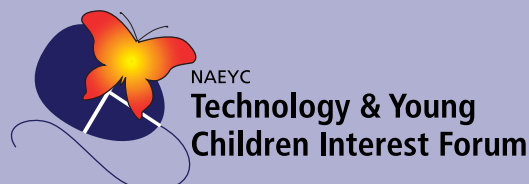

Share Your Ideas with Us

Do you have other ideas about how to become involved with our community or how we can facilitate emerging interest in technology? Contact Lynn Hartle, at lhartle@mail.ucf.edu

Our mission:

To lead discussions, share research and information, and demonstrate best practices regarding technology so it can be used to benefit children aged birth through eight years.

Visit our web site: www.TechandYoungChildren.org

"If we teach today as we taught yesterday, we rob our children of tomorrow." –John Dewey